Why we collect and use pupil information

Anglian Learning collect and hold personal information relating to our pupils. We use this personal data to:

- support your child's learning
- monitor and report on their progress
- provide appropriate pastoral care for your child; and
- assess the quality of our services
- protect pupil's welfare and keep them safe (food allergies or emergency contact details)
- to comply with the statutory duties placed on us by the DfE data collections
- carry out research
- administer admissions waiting lists

For pupils enrolling for post 14 qualifications, the Learning Records Service will give us the unique learner number (ULN) and may also give us details about your child's learning or qualifications.

The use of your child's information for these purposes is lawful for the following reasons:

- The Academy Trust is under a legal obligation to collect the information or the information is necessary for us to meet legal requirements imposed upon us such as our duty to safeguard pupils.
- it is necessary for us to hold and use your child's information for the purposes of our functions in providing schooling and so we can look after our pupils. This is a function which is in the public interest because everybody needs to have an education.
- We will not usually need your consent to use your child's information. However, if at any time it appears to us that we would like to use your child's personal data in a way which means that we would need your consent then we will explain to you what we want to do and ask you for consent. This is most likely to be activities that are not core to education but we think would benefit our pupils. If you give your consent, you may change your mind at any time.

How we collect pupil information

When we collect personal information on our forms, we will make it clear whether there is a legal requirement for you to provide it, whether there is a legal requirement on the school / academy trust to collect it. If there is no legal requirement then we will explain why we need it and what the consequences are if it is not provided.

We will also obtain information from your child's previous school, usually via secure file transfer from your child's previous school.

When we give your child's information to others

We will not give information about our pupils to anyone without your or your child's consent unless the law and our policies allow us to do so. If you want to receive a copy of the information about your child that we hold, please contact the relevant school.

Once our pupils reach the age of 13, the law requires us to pass on certain information to providers of Youth Support Services in your area who have responsibilities in relation to the education or training of 13-19 year olds. We may also share certain personal data relating to children aged 16 and over with post-16 education and training providers in order to secure appropriate services for them. A parent / guardian can request that only their child's name, address and date of birth be passed to the support service by informing the relevant school. This right is transferred to the child once he / she reaches the age 16. For more information about services for young people, please go to the National Careers website <https://nationalcareersservice.direct.gov.uk>.

We are required, by law (under regulation 5 of the Education (Information about Individual Pupils) England Regulations 2013, to pass some information about our pupils to the Department for Education (DfE). This is the part of the Government which is responsible for schools. This information may, in turn, then be made available for use by the Local Authority. Some of the information provided to the DfE is then stored in the National Pupil Database (NPD). The law that allows this is the Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013.

To find out more about the pupil information we share with the department, for the purpose of data collections, go to <https://www.gov.uk/education/data-collection-and-censuses-for-schools>.

To find out more about the NPD, go to National pupil database: user guide and supporting information - GOV.UK.

For more information about DfE's data sharing process with other organisations, please visit:

<https://www.gov.uk/data-protection-how-we-collect-and-share-research-data>

For information about which organisations the department has provided pupil information, (and for which project), please visit the following website:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/national-pupil-database-requests-received>

To contact DfE: <https://www.gov.uk/contact-dfe>

Where it is legally required, or necessary (and it complies with data protection law) we may share personal information about pupils with:

- The Local Authority
- The pupil's family and representatives
- Educators and examining bodies
- Ofsted
- Suppliers and service providers
- Survey and research organisations
- Health Authorities
- Professional advisers and consultants
- Charities and voluntary organisations
- Police forces, courts and tribunals

We will take family circumstances into account when disclosing information, in particular where a Court has decided what information a parent is allowed to have.

Our disclosure of your child's personal data is lawful for the following reasons:

- The Academy Trust is under a legal obligation to disclose the information or disclosing the information is necessary for us to meet legal requirements imposed upon us such as our duty to look after our pupils and protect them from harm.
- It is necessary for us to disclose your child's information for the purposes of our functions in providing schooling. This is a function which is in the public interest.
- There is substantial public interest in disclosing your child's information because it is necessary to keep our pupils safe from harm.
- We may not need consent to disclose your child's information. However, if at any time it appears to us that we would need consent then we will ask you before a disclosure is made.

It is in your child's interests for their personal information to be passed to these people or services. If we need consent to pass on your child's information, we will ask you or your child for consent if they are old enough to understand.

We do not normally transfer your child's information to a different country which is outside the European Economic Area. This would only happen if one of their parents lives abroad or if your child move to a new school abroad. If this happens we will be very careful to make sure that it is safe to transfer your child's information. We will look at whether that other country has good data protection laws for example. If we cannot be sure that it is safe then we will talk to you about it and make sure that you are happy for us still to send your child's information.

How long we keep your child's information

We only keep your child's information for as long as we need to or for as long as the law requires us to. Most of the information we have about your child will be in our pupil files. We usually keep these until their 25th birthday unless your child move to another school in which case we send your child's file to their new school. We have a policy which explains how long we keep information. It is called a Records Retention Policy and you can find it here <https://anglianlearning.org/financial-documents/data-protection/> or ask for a copy at the school office.

Your rights

You have these rights:

- You can ask us for a copy of the information we have about your child (if the child is over the age of 12 we will also require their consent to release the information)
- You can ask us to correct any information we have about your child if you think it is wrong
- You can ask us to erase information about your child (although we may have good reasons why we cannot do this)
- You can ask us to limit what we are doing with your child's information
- You can object to what we are doing with your child's information
- You can ask us to transfer your child's information to another organisation in a format that makes it easy for them to use.

There is more information in our Data Protection Policy which is available on the Anglian Learning website <https://anglianlearning.org/financial-documents/data-protection/>

A list of third parties that we share information can be obtained from the school.
